

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Sofoklis Karapidakis

Sofoklis Karapidakis is the Regional Compliance Officer for Siemens AE, based in Athens, Greece. He has been dealing with compliance issues since 2007, helping in the set-up of the structural & organizational changes as well as the compliance processes within Siemens AE.

Prior to the Compliance role, Sofoklis worked for the Corporate Development / Strategy Department in Greece since 2003, where he was held responsible for the annual market analysis and the facilitation of the 3-year forward business planning of the business units.

Prior to his arrival in Greece, Sofoklis had been working for Siemens AG since 2001 in the Regional Strategies department in Munich with participation in various assignments regarding Far Eastern countries.

Before joining Siemens, Sofoklis worked for 5 years as a program manager in the construction industry on medium scale projects.

Sofoklis is a diploma engineer from Aristotle University of Thessaloniki and holds a Master of Science degree on “Strategic management” from Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT). During his studies, Sofoklis had been a research assistant and teaching assistant on distant learning web courses at MIT.