CHRISTOS DIMITRIADIS OF INTRALOT RE-ELECTED ISACA BOARD CHAIR

June 30th, 2016

INTRALOT Group is proud to announce that Christos Dimitriadis, Group Director of Information Security, was re-elected, for the second consecutive term, as Chair of the Board of Directors of ISACA, a global association serving the assurance, cybersecurity, risk and governance professions.

I would like to congratulate Christos, a distinguished professional and member of INTRALOT management team, for his re-election as Chair of ISACA", said Mr. Antonios Kerastaris, INTRALOT Group CEO, and added "Technology-driven innovation and trusted operations have always been at the top of our agenda and adopting international good practices on governance of technology, risk and security management are the means to achieve our goals. INTRALOT and the gaming sector at large will be greatly benefited by ISACA's initiatives under Christos' leadership."

"In an era of digital transformation, ISACA supports professionals and organizations using technology as a business enabler and innovation vehicle. We do this through the deployment of technology governance and management frameworks, through the establishment of capability maturity models, by addressing impeding factors like cyberthreats, and through the creation of trust that assurance programs introduce," said Mr. Christos Dimitriadis. "It is an honor, privilege and great responsibility to chair the board of directors for a second term. I am looking forward to working with our international community to increase ISACA's contribution to the industries and professionals we serve."

Christos Dimitriadis has worked in information security for more than 16 years, has written more than 150 security-related publications, and holds two patents on fraud prevention and game design. He has received innovation awards from the European Lotteries Association, the John W. Lainhart IV award for major contributions to the development and enhancement of the common body of knowledge used by the constituents of ISACA, and the ISACA Presidents Award for Illustrious Service. Dimitriadis has previously served on the ISACA board as chair and international vice president. He has also served on several ISACA volunteer groups, including ISACA's Knowledge Board, COBIT for Security Task Force, Strategic Advisory Council and Academic Relations Committee. Additionally, he was a member of the Permanent Stakeholders Group (PSG) of the European Network and Information Security Agency (ENISA) from 2012 to 2015.
