Alpha Bank was named “Best Bank in Greece” for 2018 by the international financial publication “Euromoney”

Alpha Bank was named “Best Bank in Greece” for 2018, at the “Awards for Excellence 2018”, held by the international financial publication “Euromoney”, at a special event in London, on July 11, 2018.

The award is presented annually to banks whose dynamic profile in the international and regional markets in which they operate sets them apart from the competition and are chosen following an in-depth analysis of their qualitative and quantitative figures. According to the selection committee, Alpha Bank was distinguished for its superior performance in 2018 ECB’s Stress Tests among Greek systemic Banks, as well as its solid operational profitability, the highest in the sector for another consecutive year.

The award was received by the COO of Alpha Bank London Limited, Steve O’ Neil and the Senior Manager of Alpha Bank London Limited, Evan Achilleos.
