Space Hellas was declared "Greek Business Champion" at the awards of the Greek Economy's Leading Companies

Space Hellas has received the "Greek Business Champion" award at the Greek business institution awards "Greek Economy's Leading Companies 2022". The award ceremony was held by Direction Business Network on July 19, at Golf Prive in Glyfada, where more than 400 high-ranking business executives representing institutional bodies, were present.

The institution rewards the companies that lead the way in their industry by opening paths and practically supporting the Greek economy, among them, Space Hellas was distinguished for its financial performance in the last two years as a leading company in the field of technology.

The event is a continuation of the annual business edition "The Strongest of the Greek Economy" and the prizes awarded result from the official figures of published balance sheets and the general picture and assessment of the market for the progress of businesses in our country.

On the occasion of the award, in his statement Mr. Spyros D. Manolopoulos, Executive Chairman of the company, mentioned: "Having already travelled 37 years of successful course in the field of technology, Space Hellas has now evolved into a dynamic and diverse group of companies with a total turnover of over €100 million, with more than 850 employees and a presence in more than 8 countries worldwide. The hard work, perseverance, skills, and creativity of its high-level human resources have made Space Hellas one of the digital leaders of Greece."
