Space Hellas certified partner of Amazon Web Services for Cloud projects and services

Space Hellas is pleased to announce the upgrade of its partnership with Amazon Web Services (AWS), with its certification as an "AWS Select Tier Services Partner".

AWS recognizes partners who demonstrate their experience and expertise in Cloud projects and services. "AWS Select Tier Services Partners" are those possessing trained and certified manpower, as well as projects that demonstrate customer experience.

As an "AWS Select Tier Services Partner", Space Hellas has the ability to provide integrated design, implementation and support services as well as managed and value-add resale services, making use of the advantages provided by Amazon Web Services in the cloud for the successful and secure digital transformation of businesses.

The CEO of Space Hellas, Dr. Ioannis Mertzanis, stated: The selection of our company as an AWS Select Tier Services Partner gives us the opportunity to enrich the cloud solutions and services offered to our customers from a wide range of advanced solutions and services, with the reliability and innovation that AWS offers to meet their business needs.
