

Athens Exchange Group Website Technical Issue Resolved

We would like to inform the investing public that the technical issue which earlier today temporarily affected access to certain pages of the official website of the Athens Exchange Group has been fully resolved.

All website functions have now been restored and are operating normally.